

BLESSINGS

We never count our Blessings, till danger lurks nearby, we take so much for granted like raindrops from the sky. we always say "Tomorrow" we'll find more time to say – a thank you for our Blessings that happen day by day. the time of year has come around =in which we pause & think a New Year looms ahead of us, as we balance on the brink. but we should never take for granted the friendships that we share for fate has made me wonder, how we coped when they weren't there So we've known their worth & value in ways not there to see so let's thank the Lord for Blessings and for the Friends he's sent for You & Me.

By member Shirley Ann Leonard